Report Highlights:
On May 1, 2004, Slovenia will become a member of the European Union (EU), and all EU food rules, regulations, and laws will apply. This report provides information on the laws and regulations for food, food import rules, and contact information in Slovenia.
Disclaimer: This report has been prepared by the Office of Agricultural Affairs of the USDA/FAS (in Vienna, Austria) for U.S. exporters of domestic food and agricultural products. While every possible care has been taken in the preparation of this report, information provided may not be completely accurate either because policies have changed since its preparation, or because clear and consistent information about these policies was not available. It is highly recommended that U.S. exporters verify the full set of import requirements with their foreign customers, who are normally best equipped to research such matters with local authorities, before any goods are shipped.

NOTE: FINAL IMPORT APPROVAL OF ANY PRODUCT IS SUBJECT TO THE IMPORTING COUNTRY’S RULES AND REGULATIONS AS INTERPRETED BY BORDER OFFICIALS AT THE TIME OF PRODUCT ENTRY.

• instructions on how to use foodstuff, if the foodstuff could not be properly used without them
• content of alcohol in alcoholic beverages that contain more than 1.2% vol.

If the foodstuff was treated with ionized beams it has to be labeled with "treated with ionized beams", if foodstuff was packed with gases it has to be labeled "packed in controlled atmosphere".

Labeling should not be ambiguous or misleading for the consumer. For details on specific data requested on a label see Regulation 71/2000, 3/2003.

• If a foodstuff has nutritional label data, the information should be in this order:

Group 1
(a) energy value
(b) amounts of: proteins, carbohydrates, and fats

Group 2
(a) energy value
(b) amounts of: proteins, carbohydrates, sugars, fats, saturated fat acids, fibers and natrium

Permitted nutrient content claims are the ones that deal with energy value of foodstuff and substances in foodstuff.
Conditions for labeling nutritional content in foodstuff are listed in appendix of Regulation on Nutritional Labeling. This list also determines when to use relative descriptions (and what they mean for nutritional content) like “low”, “without”, “very low”...

- Act Regulating the Sanitary Suitability of Foodstuff, Products and Materials Coming into Contact with Foodstuffs forbids health claims on food products. Only Minister for Health can allow for some foodstuff to have health claims and specify how they should be marked.
