SIAL China 2005
Date: May 18–20, 2005
Venue: Shanghai New International Exposition Centre of Pudong, Shanghai

The SIAL China show features a wide array of international exhibitors focused on food and beverage marketing to the HRI and retail sectors. While SIAL has an excellent reputation in Europe and South America, the China show is perhaps less widely known because it competes with the more firmly established Food & Hotel China show. However, the show organizers have succeeded in attracting China’s leading retailers, including one of the country’s top foreign retailers, Carrefour of France. In forging a relationship with Carrefour, Exposium has gained popularity with international exhibitors by organizing meetings and seminars with key managers of the well-positioned retail chain. In an effort to ensure high-quality visitors, SIAL 2005 will again be held in the expansive new Shanghai International Exposition Centre in Pudong. ATO Shanghai will provide support services to U.S. exhibitors including an on-site booth within the USA Pavilion, a market briefing, supermarket tour, and a trade reception.

Food & Hotel China 2005
Date: November 15-17, 2005
Venue: Shanghai New International Exposition Center, Pudong, Shanghai

This large international show focuses on the HRI sector and has experienced sustained growth over the 12 past years, becoming one of the two most important food shows in Mainland China. This year FHC will move to a newer and larger venue, which should add further to its appeal. Popular with both American and European exhibitors, FHC is also attracting a growing number of Chinese companies. ATO Shanghai will again organize a USA Pavilion and provide on-site services for U.S. companies that participate in this show.
II. Other Trade Shows

U.S. exporters and other organizations interested in participating in any of the trade shows listed below should contact the respective organizers listed beneath each individual event, or alternatively, communicate with ATO Shanghai for additional information.

WoodBuild China 2005
Date: March 22-25, 2005
Venue: Shanghai New International Exposition Center of Pudong, Shanghai

This well-established show has become the premier event for exporters of hardwood to Mainland China. The American Hardwood Export Council has long participated in this show, helping to organize a U.S. pavilion, and the show has attracted increased interest from the softwood industry in recent years. The sister show, WoodMac China, provides a good forum on woodworking machinery, specifically focusing on equipment and supplies for timber construction and furniture production. This year, both shows will be held in conjunction with FurniTek China, which will add to the already strong attendance generated by the show.

Date: March 2005 (exact dates TBD in Dec 2004)

The spring show of this semi-annual event, also known as the Tang Jiu Hui Fair, possibly the largest domestic food trade show in China, has a strong "local" focus, featuring a wide variety of food, wines and spirits. It attracts more than 50,000 domestic buyers, mostly wholesalers and distributors, and provides an excellent opportunity to expand your network of contacts and to penetrate new markets within inland China. China Seafood Exposition 2005
Date: June 28-30, 2005
Venue: Shanghai New International Exposition Center of Pudong, Shanghai

This annual show is intended to provide exhibitors with the option to go to either Shanghai for China Seafood Expo or to Qingdao for National Fisheries & Seafood Expo. Some exhibitors may choose both, as they target the same niche. China Seafood Expo 2004 in Shanghai attracted international exhibitors from 20 countries and regions, e.g., the U.S., Holland, Mexico, Brazil, Australia, Hong Kong, etc. Diversified Business Communications, the same organizer of the International Boston Seafood Show shares the same opinion with its Chinese partners that there is demand for two shows a year in China, which has large and diversified markets. ATO Shanghai will visit the show and provide market briefings to U.S. exhibitors.

Pet Fair Asia 2005
Date: September 20–23 2005
Venue: Shanghai New International Exposition Center of Pudong, Shanghai

This will be the second time around for this trade show, and success has driven it from a relatively small location in downtown Shanghai out to the New International Exposition Center. What impact the change in location will have on foot traffic is unclear, as last year’s show relied on the co-location of a dog show to generate additional visitors. ATO will attend the show and provide market briefings to exhibitors.

This promotion will take advantage of the recent emergence of home improvement centers which allow both homeowners and small decorating companies to source their home-finishing materials from a single source with quality guarantees, rather than wandering through a bewildering maze of storefront suppliers with little if any assurance of quality.
