Disclaimer: This report was prepared by the Office of Agricultural Affairs of the USDA/Foreign Agricultural Service in Stockholm, Sweden for U.S. exporters of domestic food and agricultural products. While every possible care was taken in the preparation of this report, information provided may not be completely accurate either because policies have changed since its preparation, or because clear and consistent information about these policies was not available. It is highly recommended that U.S. exporters verify the full set of import requirements with their foreign customers, who are normally best equipped to research such matters with local authorities, before any goods are shipped. FINAL IMPORT APPROVAL OF ANY PRODUCT IS SUBJECT TO THE IMPORTING COUNTRY'S RULES AND REGULATIONS AS INTERPRETED BY BORDER OFFICIALS AT THE TIME OF PRODUCT ENTRY.

SECTION I. FOOD LAWS

Responsibility concerning food and agriculture in Sweden is shared between three Swedish authorities: the Swedish Board of Agriculture, the National Food Administration (NFA) and, to a lesser degree, the National Board of Fisheries. The NFA is the central supervisory authority for matters relating to food, including imports of food.

Sweden is a member of the European Union (EU) and Swedish national food legislation is, to a large extent, harmonized with the EU's food legislation. In certain cases, however, there is room for national interpretation of the EU's legislation. Sweden applies more restrictive legislation with regard to pesticides and irradiation, under the umbrella of public health precautions. In addition, Sweden has received a derogation allowing it to apply stricter salmonella control and stricter border controls (quarantine on imports of live animals) than that of other EU member countries. Traditionally, Sweden has not had outbreaks of salmonella. This is due to a combination of a sea barrier separating Sweden from the continent, border control and an extensive and far-reaching domestic control system.

This report provides an overview of Swedish food legislation where it differs from EU legislation. For information on EU legislation, please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report E48078 at:

SECTION II. LABELING REQUIREMENTS

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information on labeling requirements specific for Sweden is given below.

Small Packages

Sweden applies specific labeling requirements for "small packages" where the largest surface is less than 10 cm². This exemption is not generally applicable throughout the EU. Specific nutritional labeling rules are still applicable when a so-called nutrition claim is included on the label. For margarine, a fat declaration is required regardless of the size of the package. Information on sweetener content is also required on small packages. Foodstuffs consisting of one single ingredient need no list of ingredients if the sales name of the foodstuff is identical to the sales name of the ingredient, or if the ingredient is clearly stated by the sales name, e.g. tea, sugar, raisins.

The Swedish "Keyhole" Logo

In 1989, the National Food Administration implemented a voluntary labeling system for foods that are leaner and contain less sugars and salt and more fibre than food products of the same type normally do. A "keyhole" symbol can be printed on the package of these products, be attached on shelves in stores or used in advertising and marketing of the products. The symbol is free of cost as well as free to use for products from all countries. No previous acceptance or licensing is necessary. Its application is supervised by the local public health administration. However, the products must meet the standards established by the National Food Administration. Detailed information about the keyhole symbol can be found at the following link.

SECTION III. PACKAGING AND CONTAINER REGULATIONS

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information on packaging and container regulations specific for Sweden is given below.

Recycling of Packaging Materials in Packaging Waste

On January 1, 2006, Sweden implemented new rules on plastic bottles and metal cans. According to these new rules, plastic bottles and metal cans may not be sold in Sweden unless they participate in an approved recovery system. The annual registration fee to participate in a recovery system is 10,000 SEK (approximately US$1,400). For more detailed information please refer to the Swedish "Ordinance on deposit-and-return system for plastic bottles and metal cans" at the following link:

SFS 2005:220

SECTION IV. FOOD ADDITIVE REGULATIONS

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

SECTION V. PESTICIDE AND OTHER CONTAMINANTS

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information on pesticide and contaminant regulations specific for Sweden is given below.

Swedish Maximum Residue Levels for Pesticides

Swedish pesticide regulation (LIVSFS 2006:22) is primarily based on EC directives but does also, to a limited extent, contain national maximum residue levels. If there is no EU/national maximum residue level for a certain pesticide or pesticide/commodity combination, the National Food Administration may decide which level shall apply.

National maximum residue levels established in Sweden can be found at the following link:

 Appendix 1 to LIVSFS 2006:22

Swedish Maximum Residue Levels for Dioxins in Fish

Sweden applies EU maximum residue levels with regard to dioxin. Due to the relatively high dioxin levels in fish from the Baltic Sea, however, Sweden (and Finland) has received a derogation allowing fish with dioxin levels exceeding the EU thresholds to be sold in Sweden under the condition that they are not exported to other EU countries. This exception will remain until 2011.

Atomic Radiation

Sweden applies national maximum permitted levels of radioactivity in food: 300 Bq/kg for meat, meat products, cereal-based fruits (except nuts) vegetables (except mushrooms), baby food, dairy products and marine (sea) fish.

SECTION VI. OTHER REGULATIONS AND REQUIREMENTS

A. Product Inspection and Registration Requirement

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

B. Certification and Documentation Requirements

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information on certification and document requirements specific for Sweden is given below.

Swedish Salmonella Control Program

Fresh meat (included frozen), ground meat and meat preparations imported into Sweden are subject to salmonella control at the border inspection post, unless the consignment is accompanied by a certificate from a recognized responsible authority that it has been tested according to Commission decision 95/409/EC and 95/411/EC with negative results. If the consignment tests positive for salmonella, the Swedish National Food Administration is entitled to take appropriate action. The basic control fee for inspection during normal working hours is 500 SEK for vegetable products and 700 SEK + 0.06 SEK per kilo for livestock products. For certain foodstuffs, extensive safeguard control measures decided upon at the EU level are applied. At present, the United States is not targeted for such safeguard measures.

SECTION VII. OTHER SPECIFIC STANDARDS

A. Genetically Modified Foods (GMOs)

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

B. Novel Foods

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

C. Dietetic or Special Use Food

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

D. Wine, Beer and Other Alcoholic Beverages

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information specific for Sweden is given below.

Swedish Alcohol Monopoly

Retail sales of wine and liquor in Sweden are restricted to a government agency, Systembolaget. Systembolaget handles all over-the-counter sales of wine, spirits, and full-strength beer in Sweden. The Government of Sweden (GOS) managed to retain the retail monopoly despite its accession to the EU in 1995, but had to relinquish its monopoly on importing, wholesaling, production and exporting of wines and spirits. Importers other than Systembolaget must either supply the government monopoly or restrict their sales to the hotel and restaurant trade. To import and/or produce alcoholic beverages, a licence issued by the Special Tax Office in Ludvika is required, but imports are otherwise unrestricted.

E. Organic Foods

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078. Information on organic food standards specific for Sweden is given below.

Swedish KRAV-Label

The Swedish organic sector is effectively protected, although not in any official way. Two private organizations are recognized by the National Food Administration to carry out inspection and certification. These are KRAV and SMAK AB. The most significant of these two is KRAV. The KRAV standards are based on the International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movement (IFOAM) standards for organic production and are also compatible with EU regulations. KRAV is so well known that marketing organic products in Sweden would be difficult without its label. This, in effect, means that imports by this market are restricted to organic products certified by an organization KRAV recognizes for certification. Only a small percentage of organic products on the Swedish market do not carry the KRAV label. For U.S. organic products which are IFOAM certified, getting access to the KRAV seal is not problematic. Without IFOAM certification, obtaining the KRAV seal could be both time-consuming and costly.

KRAV also approves foreign companies that produce or package according to its rules.

F. Vertical Legislation (Breakfast Directives)

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

G. Animal Products

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

H. Frozen Foodstuffs

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

I. Ionizing Radiation

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E47056. Information on ionizing radiation requirements specific for Sweden is given below.

Swedish legislation only allows for spices to be treated with irradiation. A food that has been treated with irradiation may be imported only if the treatment is permitted in Sweden.

J. Fruits and Vegetables

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.

K. Seafood

Please refer to the USEU FAIRS Report, E48078.
