Report Highlights:

This report presents China Customs agricultural, fishery, and forestry commodity trade data recorded from January to March 2007. Year to date agricultural, fishery, and forestry imports were $10.4 billion of which, $2.6 billion originated from the United States. Leading imports from the world were soybeans, cotton, palm oil, untreated wood, and natural rubber. China's agricultural, fishery, and forestry exports were $9.1 billion, primarily processed corn, aquatic products and woodenware. China's top twenty-five agricultural, fishery, and forestry import and export commodity categories have remained relatively consistent with previous months.

Disclaimer

The Agricultural Affairs Office at the U.S. Embassy in Beijing provides this report for information purposes only. Readers should be aware that China Customs data in this report will not match other countries' export statistics due to the timing of exports (e.g., trade recorded in an exporting country in one month may not show up in China's data until the following month). Furthermore, values from one country to another will vary due to disparity in recording methods (e.g., FOB vs. CIF/landed price). Also, inconsistencies may exist as a result of Hong Kong or Macau re-export trade to or from China. Finally, some inconsistencies may result from different classification of goods (e.g., hard wheat from one country may be classified as durum by China).

"HTS" refers to Harmonized Tariff System. At the two, four, and six-digit level, tariff line items/descriptions for all countries are harmonized; more precise categories may differ between countries. Commodity descriptions are increasingly precise as the number of digits increase.

Additionally, it is useful to recognize that trade data for many of these commodities are more accurately depicted on a marketing year basis, as reported in individual commodity reports.

Agricultural commodities refer to those commodities identified in Annex I of the Uruguay round of agricultural negotiations. Fishery commodities refer to commodities recognized in HTS Chapters 03.02 through 03.07, 16.04, and 16.05. Forestry commodities refer to HTS codes referred to in U.S. Trade Reports for Forest Products excluding pulp and paper.

The United States remains China's largest supplier of agricultural, fishery, and forestry products. The total imports value of these commodities through March was $10.4 billion, which increased by 9.7 percent in comparison to the same time last year. At the six-digit HTS level, the top twenty-five import and export commodity categories for China have remained relatively consistent with previous reports. China's soybeans imports ($1605 million) from the United States become the highest value import, which increase 52.1 percent. China's certain hides and skins ($188 million) follow as the second. Cotton imports ($134 million) remain decreasing this month, which are down 78.8 percent compared with the previous year.

China's corn exports ($471 million) surpass fishery products through March, and become the highest value export.

China's $2.575 billion in agricultural, fishery, and forestry imports from the United States surpasses total imports from more than 200 individual countries/customs territories including: Canada ($2.380 billion), Chile ($2.378 billion), Angola ($2.262 billion), Italy ($2.255 billion), United Kingdom ($1.644 billion).

FAS China forecasts China's import value and volume of U.S. commodities will continue growing and the market remains a high priority for exporters of U.S. agricultural, fishery, and forestry commodities.
