Disclaimer

The Agricultural Affairs Office at the U.S. Embassy in Beijing provides this report for information purposes only. Readers should be aware that China Customs data in this report will not match other countries' export statistics due to the timing of exports (e.g., trade recorded in an exporting country in one month may not show up in China's data until the following month). Furthermore, values from one country to another will vary due to disparity in recording methods (e.g., FOB vs. CIF/landed price). Also, inconsistencies may exist as a result of Hong Kong or Macau re-export trade to or from China. Finally, some inconsistencies may result from different classification of goods (e.g., hard wheat from one country may be classified as durum by China).

"HTS" refers to Harmonized Tariff System. At the two, four, and six-digit level, tariff line items/descriptions for all countries are harmonized; more precise categories may differ between countries. Commodity descriptions are increasingly precise as the number of digits increase. "Not elsewhere specified or indicated" is abbreviated NESOI.

Additionally, it is useful to recognize that trade data for many of these commodities are more accurately depicted on a marketing year basis, as reported in individual commodity reports.

Agricultural commodities refer to those commodities identified in Annex I of the Uruguay round of agricultural negotiations. Fishery commodities refer to commodities recognized in HTS Chapters 03.02 through 03.07, 16.04, and 16.05. Forestry commodities refer to HTS codes referred to in U.S. Trade Reports for Forest Products excluding pulp and paper.

The United States remains China's largest supplier of agricultural, fishery, and forestry products. China's imports of these commodities from the United States ($865 million) increased by 36 percent in comparison to this time last year, and the value was more than double of the No. 2 country, Thailand ($309 million). Among these commodity categories, at the six-digit HTS level, most China's imports from the United States remain increasing rate which including soybeans ($595 million) that increased by 74 percent in comparison to this time last year, holes its position as highest value import, certain hides and skins imports ($63 million) increased by 26z percent, frozen chicken cuts and edible offal ($35 million) increased by 133 percent. But China's cotton imports from the United States ($36 million) decreased considerably by 66 percent in this month.

At the four -digit HTS level, China's imports of soybeans ($595 million) ranked No. 1 highest value import of any agricultural or non-agricultural commodities from the United States.

China's $865 million in agricultural, fishery, and forestry imports from the U.S. in the first month of 2007 surpasses total imports from over 200 individual countries/ customs territories including: Italy ($800 million), Canada ($779 million), Kazakhstan ($610 million), Chile ($581 million), United Kingdom ($536 million).
