

Cotton: World Markets and Trade

Highest U.S. Cotton Exports in Over a Decade

Exports Expand in Four of the Top Five Markets

With 2017/18 seeing the largest U.S. production in more than 10 years and record global use, reported U.S. exports¹ reached their highest level since 2005/06 and were the second highest on record. Compared with last year, U.S. shipments expanded in four of the top five markets. Expanding use in Southeast and South Asia has underpinned significant U.S. shipments recently. Vietnam continued for the third year as the top U.S. market where shipments surpassed last year’s record, owing to the country’s record yarn production and robust yarn exports (see last month’s report here).

China was the second-largest destination for U.S. cotton and served as the largest market for U.S. Pima (Extra-Long Staple grade). Demand for Pima and Upland continues to grow as China pursues higher quality inputs and works domestic stocks down further.

U.S. exports to Pakistan saw the largest year-over-year increase despite its larger domestic crop. The country’s yarn production continues to grow and is expected to expand into 2018/19, a promising sign for U.S. export prospects.

Shipments to Mexico and Turkey were down compared to the previous year, due to higher production in those countries.

U.S. exports are forecast down slightly in 2018/19, with exportable supplies lower in the United States and higher for the rest of the world excluding China. Nonetheless, 2018/19 U.S. shipments are forecast to be the second-highest since 2005/06 with global use projected at a record.

U.S. Cotton Accounts for Nearly 40% of World Trade

Overview

Production for 2018/19 is forecast up, on larger crops in the United States, Argentina and Turkey, partially offset by lower production in Uzbekistan and Australia. Trade is projected higher with larger India and West Africa exports supporting greater imports for Pakistan and Indonesia. Higher imports for both countries underpin slightly higher global consumption. U.S. production, exports, and carryin are raised. Stocks are higher. The U.S. season-average farm price is unchanged at 75 cents per pound.

For 2017/18, production is marginally lower due to a smaller estimated crop in Australia, while use is higher driven by Pakistan and Indonesia. Global trade is slightly up with greater imports in Pakistan and Indonesia driving higher exports in India and West Africa. The U.S. balance sheet reflects higher stocks; on lower use and exports The U.S. season-average farm price is unchanged at 68 cents per pound.

Prices

The A-index and the spot price have both ticked up marginally with the A-index establishing new quotes for the 2018/19 season.
